

Optics3D

First of all, I wish to thank all of you who took the trouble to complete our online survey. The results have been very enlightening. As a result we are pleased to make the following announcement:

The frames of our multisystem 3D glasses system will be available in a range of colours. These will be black, blue, cyan, green, pink, red, transparent, white and violet. And this is more or less what they will look like:

These frames are almost ready. The polarisers will be ready by about the end of May or Early June and they will become available from that time. The other monosystem frames are expected to be released mid to late July. Before then, we will be gearing up. We have a place lined up in Witney. You can expect to see a makeover of our logo which will appear on our website in the next couple of weeks or so. A week or two after this you can expect to see a makeover of our website, which is being coded by Websites By Mark. The website is going to look very snazzy and professional. In the meantime, we will be acquiring stuff such as furniture, computers, a focimeter, boxes and other stuff, such as the glass cases, microfibre cloths and packaging which will be included with every order. We are really excited with all these developments and look forward to increasing the comfort of watching 3D films to all the people who wear glasses.

To change your settings, email address or to be removed from this email list, go to <http://optics3d.co.uk/interest.htm>.